The Deadly Threat of Drug and Alcohol Abuse

Addictive substances such as drugs and alcohol can affect many parts of the body, but their primary target is the brain. These substances trigger dopamine responses in neurotransmitters, flooding the user with intense feelings of reward — and a strong desire to repeat the pattern. While an estimated 40 to 60 percent of drug or alcohol abusers are genetically predisposed to addiction, anyone can fall under the grip of chemical dependency. Utah's residents are certainly not immune. In fact:

- Utah has the fifth-highest rate of fatalities due to prescription drug overdoses in the U.S.
- Prescription medications were the “gateway drug” for 80 percent of Utah’s heroin addicts
- Prescription drug deaths in Utah have risen by 400 percent in the last 20 years
- Alcoholism, drug addiction and suicide rates in Utah are expected to increase by 40 percent by 2025

Treatment Services at Renaissance Ranch Ogden

It’s no secret that alcohol and drug abuse can wreck both your health and your relationships with family and friends. Fortunately, you don’t have to fall into the depressing statistics listed above. Renaissance Ranch Ogden offers a number of alcohol and drug rehabilitation services that can help you overcome your dependency, regain your health, and heal your relationships. These services include:

Outpatient Drug Addiction Treatment

Our outpatient services feature a combination of cognitive, recreational, motivational enhancement, psycho-educational and group psychotherapies. We adhere to a combination of spiritual principles and the time-tested 12-step approach to addiction recovery. We can even address other problems that often feed into addiction, from emotional trauma and abuse survival to mood disorders such as anxiety and depression.

Family Therapy

Our experiential family therapy programs aim to bring addicts and their families back together by helping every member of the family cope with the emotional and communication issues involved. We also provide symbolic family therapy. This form of therapy addresses underlying family issues that may contribute to existing addiction problems or inhibit the family’s ability to heal together.
